

Profs Discuss Discrimination Clause

By BOB HEISEY and LOU NOIA

What effect would passage of the three anti-discrimination amendments have on the four departments supported most heavily by student body funds?

The four departments concerned—Athletic, Journalism, Speech & Drama, and Music—were contacted yesterday and the department heads offered their predictions as to the direct or indirect consequences these proposals would have on their respective departments.

Athletic department activities would be most influenced, while the Journalism, Speech & Drama, and Music departments would remain unaffected.

DIRECTOR SPEAKS

Glenn "Tiny" Hartranft, director of the Athletic department, emphatically stated, "I am in favor of any effort to curb race discrimination. I am absolutely opposed to race discrimination on any team at San Jose State college or any other institution."

"We do not discriminate in any of our athletics but are interested only in the character and athletic qualifications of an individual in making team selections," he explained.

"However," he continued, "the resolutions which involve the Athletic department are dangerous. They are not dangerous to the great majority or to the honest thinkers. We pass laws to protect us from the unscrupulous."

DANGEROUS

"These resolutions can be dangerous in the hands of the unscrupulous," Hartranft declared. "These resolutions are dangerous to the life and success of this department."

"I will not say that this will mean the Athletic department will have to withdraw from the student body support. However, this could be forced upon us."

"Athletics must be under the complete control of the individual coaches," the director emphasized. "A successful coach must have confidence in himself and feel the confidence of the entire student body. He cannot be subject to the thoughts, desires, or wishes of any individual or group."

"You may call this dictatorial if you wish," he said. "It always has been and has to be. Often athletes, regardless of race, color or creed, honestly question the judgement and decisions of coaches in the selection of their teams."

"However," Hartranft continued, "this selection cannot be a question for debate or for court decision. In the hands of an unscrupulous athlete, these resolutions would be disastrous."

"I hope these resolutions will be defeated and that others, better written, with true constructive thinking behind them, are passed in their place," Hartranft concluded.

"I regret very much that this thing has been brought up," declared Dwight Bentel, head of the Journalism department. "It is most unfortunate that this issue has to be created where none previously existed, but as far as we are concerned in journalism publications, we refuse to be bothered."

Bentel pointed out that "any student in this college, regardless of racial background, is eligible for courses in journalism and all student body publications staffs and editorships."

"The Spartan Daily is the first college daily in the United States to have a Chinese editor, and we are not in the least bit interested in color," he explained. "Our sole consideration is ability."

NEVER OCCURRED BEFORE

"The non-discrimination amendments will not have any effect on the Speech and Drama department or its activities," states Dr. Hugh Gillis, head of the department. "It never occurred to us because we've never had discrimination here. We look for ability, not racial characteristics," he declared.

DR. DOWNEY'S OPINION

The opinion of Dr. Lyle Downey, Music department head, closely paralleled that of Dr. Gillis. "Passage of the anti-discrimination amendments will have no effect whatsoever in the Music department," he said.

"We have never practiced discrimination of any description in selecting students for any activity," Dr. Downey explained. "The only requirement we ask is that a student be capable of handling the particular position he seeks. I see no particular reason for passage of the proposed amendments," he stated, "but I also see no reason for not bringing them to a vote."

"We have had students of all nationalities and ethnic backgrounds participate in Music department-sponsored productions and not once has there been any friction," Dr. Downey concluded.

Six Lovelies Race For Title Of SG Queen

The race is on! Early this morning, students armed with pictures, posters and propaganda, stole about the campus to place publicity for the six Spardi Gras queen candidates in eye-catching spots.

The co-eds competing to rule the activities on SG Day with the king of her choice are: Joan Thornley, sponsored by Delta Theta Omega and Allenian; Vaux Murvy, Sigma Kappa and Theta Mu Sigma; Carol Seibold, Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Kappa Alpha Theta; Donna Grayson, Sigma Gamma Omega; Lelia McMahon, Alpha Pi Omega and Delta Gamma; Bobby Brown, Delta Sigma Gamma and Alpha Phi.

STARTING RALLIES

Rallies for the six beauties will begin Tuesday, May 11, with entertainment for Joan Thornley at 8 p.m. and one at 9 p.m. for Bobby Brown. All rallies will be held in the inner Quad and Bill Ellsworth, queen campaign manager, suggests students planning to attend dress warmly in the event of cool weather.

An important meeting of the Spardi Gras Executive committee will be held tonight at 7:30 in the SG office, announces John Peterson, chairman.

On Wednesday night, May 12, Carol Seibold's show will be presented at 8 o'clock, followed by the entertainment of Donna Grayson at 9 o'clock. The final rallies, Thursday, May 13, will be held for Lelia McMahon at 8 p.m. and for Vaux Murvy at 9 p.m.

FOOTLIGHTS AND CURTAINS

The stage will be located at the north end of the Quad and will be fitted with footlights and curtains. Dr. Robert Rhodes, Biology instructor, will provide adequate sound and lighting for the affairs.

To keep the entertainment moving, Ellsworth promises to have community singing between the rallies.

Elections will be held on May 19 and final elections on May 26. Voting will be conducted by members of the Student Court.

REMOVAL TIME

Ellsworth emphasized that all publicity must be removed by 8 a.m., May 27. He also asked that organizations re-read the rules issued on the conducting of queen publicity.

A running script for rallies must be in the Coop "S" box not later than tomorrow.

Queen candidates were to appear in the SG office this morning at 9:30 or 11:30 for costume measurements, stated costume committee chairmen Joan Buechner and Dot Williams.

DISCRIMINATION TO BE AIRED

Is there or isn't there discrimination at San Jose State college?

This question will be thrashed out verbally in Morris Dalley auditorium Friday afternoon at 3:30, according to G. Hall Landry, member of the group advocating revision.

Bob O'Neil will speak for the three ASB constitution revision clauses, and Bob Cronemiller will speak against them.

Auditions For SG Program Will Be Today

"At 4:00 o'clock today, the only auditions for entertainment on Spardi Gras day will be held in the Morris Dalley auditorium," announced Willard "Unc" Hillyer, entertainment chairman, late yesterday.

"During Spardi Gras day we will have time on different radio stations, over which we will send two shows," continued Hillyer. "That means our local talent will represent the college to thousands of listeners."

Frank Blake and Tommy Pratt's band have already been auditioned for the shows, continued Hillyer. "Additional acts to round out the program are needed," said the chairman. He expressed a particular need for vocalists.

MONTEREY—Handcuffed, and dressed in prison garb, a University of California student was found wandering in the Carmel valley. He alleged that he had been kidnapped by fraternity pledges and released in the wild country near here after he was given a prison haircut and dressed up as a convict. The pledges were ordered to return him.

WASHINGTON—President Harry S. Truman will make a transcontinental tour of the country next month, White House attaches announced. His itinerary includes a graduation talk at the University of California in Berkeley June 11.

WASHINGTON—A federal court jury found film writer Dalton Trumbo guilty of contempt of Congress yesterday.

WASHINGTON—Congressional roundup: Secretary of State George C. Marshall asked Congress to leave the UN alone. He stressed that it was necessary for the big powers to retain their veto power. Senate foes of the oleo tax won their first round and it may go to the finance committee. Marshall hinted the government may ask Congress for the right to ship arms to western Europe. A suggestion was made that the United States Marines be placed at the disposal of the UN as a world police force.

COLUMBUS—Both sides in the Ohio primary (GOP) claimed victory as Taft won 14 out of the 23 delegates that Stassen contested for. The popular vote was a margin of 18,000 in favor of Taft. Alabama bolted President Truman and supported the anti-civil rights slate. In Indiana and Florida uninstructed delegates were selected by both parties.

This Is Not The Way

Three amendments are being offered to the ASB constitution which threaten to disintegrate the entire student governmental and social system as it is now known. We now are in the throes of a battle between ideals and reality. Everyone on campus has heard by now about the anti-discrimination petitions which were submitted Monday to the Student Council. Now let us sit down to THINK these articles through word by word and see the implications.

Four departments, Men's P.E., Music, Journalism, and Speech and Drama, are now partially subsidized by ASB funds. If any person from any of these departments can go before the Student Council and prove that he was discriminated against, it would mean that every student on this campus would suffer from the withdrawal of funds from that department.

For instance, if the Men's P.E. department is denied funds it won't mean that any P.E. department practices will be changed. What it will mean is that every student who wishes to attend a football game will have to pay regular admission. Not only will it affect football, but basketball, boxing, and all sports will have paid admission as well. This will mean an outlay of from $15 to $20 per quarter for each student. Money just isn't that abundant.

NO FREE DAILY

If discrimination can be proved in the Journalism department it will mean that there no longer will be a free Spartan Daily. All information about campus activities would have to come from bulletin boards, by word of mouth, and through paid subscriptions to the Daily which would cost each individual nearly double what he now lays out for it through Student Body cards. Just how willing are you to give up reading of Thrust and Parries and the Sports pages?

Of course, the natural reaction is this, "Why are we so willing to give lip service to democracy and ideals, yet in actuality deny by actions what we preach?" One answer bears some cool thinking. We all give lip-service to the same ideals, and actually we believe in them. However, we can gain these ideals easier and quicker through an evolutionary process of amelioration, than we can by trying to force the issue.

WHAT HAS HAPPENED

Here is what has happened on the issue of discrimination:

Before it was emphasized, few people thought about it. Rumors were circulated every now and then that a case of discrimination was prevalent. Yet, upon investigation all these rumors have proved to be just figments of imagination. Now the campus is divided into two factions which delight in condemning each other. Now, discrimination will spring up out of pure resentment of being told what to do and believe in.

The proponents of these amendments have forgotten that members of other than minority groups also have rights and privileges. They want to give minority groups "their rights." That is fine, but in the process don't deny other people their inalienable rights. Also, don't lose sight of the individual who believes in democracy to the extent that he may choose his friends and associates on any basis which he may choose.

WHAT DO WE GAIN?

Then comes the question, "Can you legislate ideals?" What is to be gained by incorporating into the constitution something that will be allowed to gain the role of a "blue law?" If these three amendments, as they are now worded, pass, they will either have to assume that role or wreck the campus ship of state.

If, when the sponsoring committee met with the Student Council on the matter of these amendments, they had listened to offered compromises, they might have gained the end which they wish to achieve. As these amendments stand, they are worthless to the campus. In fact, they are dynamite laden with redundancies and technicalities.

The principle is great, but this tool which they are attempting to use will achieve just the opposite to what is intended. We would like to eliminate discrimination, but this is not the way to do it. When you go to the polls Wednesday, vote against these three amendments.

Thrust And Parry

Two Premises

Dear Thrust and Parry:

Dr. MacQuarrie's arguments against the proposed amendment to prohibit discrimination would seem to stem from one of two premises.

Either no discrimination is practiced on campus or if it does exist, the method being used to eradicate it is not the proper one. His prediction or threat of the dire results that would follow passage of the proposed amendment is an implicit admission that discrimination is being practiced. In addition to this implicit admission we have factual evidence of discrimination.

A year ago a Negro member of the basketball team was denied the right to live in the Varsity House, although his white teammates did live there. Our basketball team participated in the tournament last winter despite the fact that competition was limited to caucasians. In 1941 a member of our boxing team was prevented from going to the NCAA finals because he was a Negro.

If Dr. MacQuarrie's arguments are based on the assumption that the method used is not the proper one, what better method can he suggest than that of using the initiative provision in the ASB constitution?

Dr. MacQuarrie's arguments are similar to those used by southern politicians whenever changes in their "Jim Crow" laws are proposed. In fact his stand is typical of the reaction of all conservatives to proposed changes in their beloved status quo.

Ed Kerr, ASB 4510

Issue Rampant

Dear Thrust and Parry:

The issue of discrimination rampant over the U. S. today is now being considered here at State. Some say there is no discrimination here. Like some constitutions it may not be written but is it implied? Can it happen here? Yes!

Three amendments to our ASB constitution were proposed and are well written.

Most organizations on campus would not be affected by these amendments. Fraternities and sororities have been investigated and no written discrimination was found at that time. The first line of the aforementioned amendments would safeguard any existing thereafter.

San Jose State is a college supported by taxpayer's money. On-campus groups should be for all students, or for students of specific interests as church, profession or department.

In this day of churches working together it would be unwise to organize into club groups for social activity.

The American way of equal opportunity for all is not one of being allowed to choose your own company in a tax supported school.

—ASB 116

Tempest At tState

Dear Thrust and Parry:

If State were a teapot, truly there would be a tempest brewing. The efforts of a group of doubtless sincere students to present an amendment to the ASB is commendable, but would it prove of any value even if accepted?

Personally I am neither for nor against someone else's policy as regards discrimination, as long as it doesn't offend my sensibilities. Why should I seek to determine the membership of someone else's organization? Should I pick your friends, or should you? That poor term democracy includes the right to choose your own friends and associates.

Finally, do all the "anti-anti" boys believe and practice their own preachings? Who was it that said, "First to thine own self be true?"

Harry Sanders, ASB 5776

Let Us Reflect

Thrust and Parry:

Let us reflect upon Dr. MacQuarrie's commentary upon a recent petition. The essence of the petition, to which Dr. MacQuarrie has referred and the key note of which is the prevention of discrimination, is that any member who has contributed to the student body funds is entitled to receive as much benefit from those funds as would any other student under similar circumstances.

Dr. MacQuarrie calls those who object to any such deprivation "busy bodies," outsiders (although they have A.S.B. cards) who are trying to impose an injustice upon the A.S.B.

The petition merely asks the students to allow the provision to be presented before the whole student body for either rejection or acceptance. Dr. MacQuarrie calls this a militant procedure. If it be so, then the principle of the secret ballot is a militant one and the recent presentation of the A.S.B. constitution was a militant one.

Dr. MacQuarrie stated that there is not and never has been any discrimination at this institution. We should all be proud of this. We should strive to preserve this. If we are proud of this and wish to preserve it, why should there be any objection to a provision which would assure its preservation?

Bore: One who is interesting to a point—the point of departure.

Know The Facts

Dear Thrust and Parry:

Students should know the facts! At the Student Council meeting held on May 3, Bob O'Neill, when presenting his committee's three proposed anti-discrimination amendments also proposed a fourth amendment.

So many misinterpretations had arisen that it was felt a fourth clarifying amendment was necessary. These amendments do not limit organizations in choosing their own members as individuals; they only rule out group discrimination—blanket disapproval of a group because of their heritage. Nor are these three amendments designed to limit the power of the administration. The clarifying amendment was read as follows:

IV These amendments (I, II, and III) shall not be construed as limiting the right of the administration, departments and/or faculty to evaluate students on their merit, nor shall they be construed as limiting the right of any student organization to select its members on any other legitimate basis.

O'Neill brought up the point that under the new constitution, the Council, by a 2/3 vote, can propose that this amendment be added. When the Council started to proceed with other business, it was again called to their attention from the floor that it was imperative that this IV amendment be brought up at that time. The Council not only refused to bring the amendment up for discussion, but made and passed a motion that this clarifying amendment NOT BE BROUGHT UP AT ALL.

CROFUT GETS CHRONOMETER FOR SJS LAB

Francis Crofut, horology instructor in the Industrial Arts department, brought home the bacon—a Hamilton ship's chronometer—for San Jose State college when he returned from the conference of the California Retail Jewelers association last week.

Mr. Crofut spoke to the conference, which was held at the Biltmore hotel in Los Angeles, April 27 to 29, on the use of the oscilloscope in the instruction of watchmaking students and also explained the facilities for horological instruction at San Jose State.

At the conclusion of his speech and demonstration, Mr. Crofut was presented with an order on the Hamilton Watch company for a Hamilton ship's chronometer. According to Mr. Crofut, the Hamilton chronometer is the world's most accurate portable timepiece and is worth around $350. It will be used in the watchmaking laboratory for student instruction.

The CRJA was originally responsible for the creation of the horological division of the Industrial Arts department at San Jose State, according to Mr. Crofut. They started the ball rolling with a $5000 donation for the initial outlay for laboratory equipment and supplies.

GAELS WILL LISTEN TO PLANS FOR CONFERENCE

By BARNEY BARNETT

The formation of the new six-team conference took another step forward this week when St. Mary's college announced that the Gaels are interested in the plan and will be represented at a meeting to discuss the possibilities of the new league. Gerald P. Martin, Gael graduate manager, made known the attitude of the Moraga school in an exclusive interview with the Spartan Daily Tuesday.

COP SILENT

At the present writing, every prospective member of the proposed circuit has been heard from with the sole exception of the College of Pacific. It is expected, however, that the Tigers will make known their attitude before the end of the week.

Dennis Heenan, Santa Clara graduate manager, told the Spartan Daily that the Broncos would attend the decisive meeting, but any decision would come from the Board of Athletic Control and the Rev. William C. Gianera, S.J., president of the university.

NEVADA ENDORSES

Joseph Sheeketski, football coach and athletic director of the University of Nevada, expressed complete and unqualified approval of the plan. He revealed, in a letter to the Spartan Daily, that the Nevada athletic board had also endorsed the proposal.

Father Sullivan, S.J., faculty moderator of athletics at the University of San Francisco, told the Spartan Daily that the hilltop Dons were definitely interested and would also be present when a meeting of the six schools is called.

"TINY" DECIDES

Glenn "Tiny" Hartranft, San Jose State athletic director, when interviewed on the question, declared, "... we would be open to suggestions on the formation of a new conference as proposed." Dr. T. W. MacQuarrie stated that the decision would be left to Hartranft.

The six team league, to be composed of Nevada, Santa Clara, College of Pacific, St. Mary's, USF, and San Jose State was originally proposed by Chronicle Sports Editor Bill Leiser. Leiser pointed out that, "the six small colleges have far more strength and public support than they realize." Leiser has devoted many ensuing columns to show the benefits of the new loop.

Maloney To Start Against SF State

Con Maloney, the Palo Alto Irishman, gets his second chance against San Francisco State when the Gators and the Spartans tangle at 3:15 this afternoon at Municipal stadium.

The burly righthander drew the pitching assignment for the San Francisco game two weeks ago, but control trouble, together with several fielding miscues on the part of his teammates, spelled his defeat.

Coach Mel Hardin's San Francisco lads always point for their games with San Jose State, their attitude being, "We don't care how many games we lose, as long as we beat San Jose."

Handling the bespectacled Maloney's slants will be Stanley Peterson, a converted outfielder who will be catching his first college game.

By DAVE PARNAY

The most popular event at most track meets is the 100 yard dash. Why, I don't know. The average fan can't tell the difference between an 11 flat and 9.4 second century which is the world record. In a balanced field, that same fan gets only one closeup of the action as the runners flash by him and he probably counts on the announcer to assure him of the winner.

To my mind, the most exciting event on the program is the high hurdles. Crowds at track meets can be attracted by an outstanding performer in practically any event or the possibility of a record in that event, but the high barriers are practically always a highlight of the meet.

HURDLER IS MACHINE

A high hurdler has to have the speed of a sprinter and the precision of a machine for 120 yards. If he loses his sense of timing and breaks his stride, look out! Or maybe the spill is what you're looking for.

The first official 9.4 second 100 yard dash was run about 20 years ago. Except unofficially, that record hasn't been broken to this day. Yet it was hardly more than 15 years ago that the record for the highs was 14.2 seconds. That record has been beaten by dozens of men since that time. Osgood, Wolcott, and Towns were the first men to beat 14 seconds.

Less than a month ago, the fabulous Harrison Dillard of Baldwin-Wallace college lowered the record to 13.6 seconds from the 13.7 Spec Towns of Georgia set in Norway in 1937. At the time Towns set his record, 13.6 would have been considered as far out of reach as the four-minute mile.

RUNNERS WORK HARD FOR CCAA

We won't say the Spartan track team is being favored by good weather this week as they prepare for the CCAA conference meet at Santa Barbara Saturday, or a terrific rain storm will probably hit San Jose tonight.

SPARTANS SHOULD WIN

The local thincads appear to be in top shape with the exception of several men, and should retain the title they won last spring.

Hurdler Jack Passey, who pulled a muscle in the Spartans' first meet against the Olympic Club, will probably compete Saturday for the first time since then. Passey tied the school record of 14.9 in the 120-yard high barriers against the Winged "O". His brother, Bill, lowered this mark to 14.8 against COP, however.

GOLF SQUAD AFTER ANOTHER CCAA TITLE

By DAVE PARNAY

Sparta's golf team, defending champions and prohibitive favorites for their sixth consecutive CCAA team championship, will leave San Jose at 2 p.m. today for Santa Barbara's Montecito Country club.

Eli Bariteau and Morgan Fottrell, individual champion last year, will lead San Jose's four-man team. Bobby Harris will be the number three man and the fourth man will be either Howard Verutti or Ross Smith.

Bariteau and Fottrell will be co-favorites for the individual title with the chief opposition expected to come from their own teammates. Only possible trouble from the outside will probably come from Santa Barbara college's home course experts, Ernie Reid and Dave Bingham.

Competition will be 36-hole medal play with 18 holes scheduled for Friday afternoon and the second 18 for Saturday morning. Montecito is a fairly easy par 70 layout with a phenomenon known as a "fade." This "fade" occurs on courses near mountains or oceans where even against the slant of the green the ball seems to veer toward the mountains or the ocean in Santa Barbara's case. The course is reported to be in excellent shape and the Spartan quartet should give par a little trouble especially on the second 18 holes, though the record 30 stroke beating they gave the rest of the field last year may not be in too much danger.
